INTERMEDIATE LEVEL

Co-founded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

Welcome

The language learning companion has been put together as part of our Intercambio Plus project to help you learn and put into practice your language skills as you explore life in another country and integrate into the local culture.

We explain how you can use intercambios to improve your language skills and cultural understanding and provide exercises to support you in sparking conversations. Each topic contains useful vocabulary and conversation prompts to practice with a language exchange partner. We also include some language learning games and activities that can help you with your speaking skills when you take part in an intercambio.

These materials were made possible with funding from the European Union's Erasmus+ Programme, which encourages the mobility of people and the sharing of language and culture across Europe.

WHAT IS AN INTERCAMBIO?

Intercambio is the Spanish word for 'exchange', an exchange is defined as an act of giving one thing and receiving another (especially of the same kind) in return. At intercambios, we are exchanging one of the most valuable things humans have: language! In an intercambio, people from various nationalities meet and practice their foreign language skills. It's a great way to improve fluency and meet new people, especially locals!

It can be difficult to strike up a conversation beyond ordering food or asking for directions, which is where intercambios come in useful. They are language exchanges hosted in relaxed venues allowing you to mix with people from all over the world and practice your language skills outside the classroom. Intercambios also help you learn more about the culture, local expressions and slang, and make friends. During an intercambio, it is vital to loosen up and not worry about making mistakes: practice makes perfect!

In this handbook for intermediate level learners of French or English, you will find several activities and games you can try during an intercambio to encourage both fun and imagination.

FINDING AN INTERCAMBIO

The best way to find your nearest intercambio is to search on a social media site, such as Facebook or Instagram, or check our website events page. Some intercambio groups have a WhatsApp group chat that you can be added to so you can stay up to date on when and where they're taking place. Intercambios are social occasions so try not to be shy! If you are still unsure then check out our project's blog at www.intercambioplus.eu to read about all the benefits and tips for attending an intercambio near you.

HOW TO USE THE COMPANION

The Companion is designed to support your learning experience at language exchanges by providing a range of topics with conversation prompts to inspire your practice, improve your level and informally assess your progress.

For each topic we've created a series of vocabulary lists and conversation prompts that are suited to each language learning level and that also take into account verb tenses, vocabulary and grammar.

The main goal here is to have a real conversation that is adapted to your language learning level. Your partner - a native or advanced speaker in the language you're learning - will check your performance and sign off each prompt once completed. There's no need to follow the order of topics or prompts, pick and choose and let the conversation flow naturally. Try to speak as much as possible, don't be scared of making mistakes and help each other - it's a language exchange after all!

We hope you enjoy these materials and encourage you to use your imagination and interest to think about new topics. Learn and have fun!

ACTIVITIES & GAMES

Twenty questions

Write the name of a celebrity, an animal, or an object on a sticky note or piece of paper and stick it to a player's forehead for everyone else but them to see. Next, the person has up to 20 questions to ask in their target language to correctly guess what's on their card. These questions can only have yes/no answers which can make things a bit harder.

This game uses all the vocabulary that you know while also learning grammar, sentence structure, and pronunciation.

Scenes from a hat

Write down some ideas and topics on pieces of paper. Throw these papers into a hat. You and your partner then take one paper out at a time and have a conversation about the topic for a few minutes.

Examples:

Differences between today and the year 3000
If F.R.I.E.N.D.S was still airing
Bad Valentine's day gifts

Films

Films are perfect for intermediate or advanced learners. It's the best way to train your ears to listen to real-life language. You can go to the cinema and watch the latest thriller or you can opt for watching a film at home together. This will allow you to stop and rewind in case you need explanations. Don't forget to turn your subtitles on, unless you really want to challenge yourself. Netflix has a variety of films in many languages. Children's films, short films, or silent films are excellent for beginners.

Word association

This game is super easy and fun to play. The first player thinks of a word and then says it out loud. The next person has to say whatever comes to their mind when hearing that word (in the target language, of course!) and then the next person does the same and so on.

Example:

Sea, Fish, Chips, Ketchup, Bottle, Milk, Cows, Farm.

What's beneficial about this game is that the players have to think really fast, as the point is to say the first thing that comes into your mind. This helps develop quick-thinking which is really important when learning to speak a new language.

Personality quizzes

These quizzes are a fun way to learn a language. There are many personality tests available online, pick one in the language that you are learning and answer it with the help of your language partner. Do not forget this is only for learning purposes, so try not to take the results too seriously. You can also compare your results together with your language partner results.
